DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-6 ,10-18,22-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kaneko et al (US Patent No. 6062189). See Figs. 6A and 7B. See also the abstract, col. 9, lines 45+, col. 11, lines 1-21, col. 14, lines 1-17 and lines 37-48. Note Fig. 7B which shows the first injection occurring in the first half of the intake stroke, i.e. within 90 degrees of after exhaust TDC. Note that based on col. 14, lines 1-17, the amount of fuel during intake amounts to the range of 10-40 percent of the total. Note also the EGR system (29,30). Inherently, during the intake stroke a vacuum (sub-atmospheric pressure) condition occurs in the combustion chamber unless this were a supercharged engine which it does not appear to be.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 7-9, 19-21 and 26-28 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kaneko et al as applied to claims 1 and 18 above, and further in view of applicant's admitted prior art at paragraph 9 of applicant's specification. Kaneko et al teach an external EGR system, however, Kaneko et al do not teach internal EGR using any of the claimed and known techniques. At paragraph 9 of applicant's specification, applicant concedes that it is known to trap or re-breathe in some of the combustion gases within the cylinder of the engine by varying valve timing. It would have been an obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have substituted internal EGR as already known from applicant's paragraph 9 for Kaneko et al's external EGR since this would have been an obvious substitution of obvious equivalents.
